

A volunteer has called my house on behalf of Kerry/Edwards. The phone call began with them stating that my son was dead. Then the lady said that is what would happen if George W Bush was re-elected President. This is awful. My wife answered the phone, who doesn't speak good English, and doesn't understand politics, and was scared stiff (the baby was with my mother). This is horrible and I would like to make this a public complaint. This is not right, and you have to draw the line somewhere. John Kerry who went to a new low when they called my house, should be fined for making phone calls like this and it should be stopped. I am offended and feel like my rights have been violated.
